NEW TAX LAW LOWERS RATE IN KENTUCKY

Reduces Rate on Realty Ten Cents for Each Hundred.

TO EQUALIZE TAXES

Livestock Rate Raised In State But Taken Off In City—Personal Property Is Increased

Associated Press

FRANKFORT Ky July 2—The state tax commission today neared the final establishing of assessments for 1924 taxation in Kentucky

The new Nelson tax law taking the place of the revenue law of the 1917 special session of the legislature, Ben Marshall secretary of the commission said, has only two principal changes one being the reduction of the rate on real estate from 10 to 30 cents on $100 the other an increase on per onal property tangible and intangibles from 40 to 50 cents State rate on livestock was increased from 10 to 50 cents but the county and city rate on livestock was taken off entirely

The Nelson law became operative immediately upon its approval by Gov Fields and the assessment being made from July 1, 1924 was subject to the rates named in the Nelson law

The loss sustained by the state on real property by reducing real estate rates from 40 to 30 cents, taking the assessment of July 1 1922 as the criterion will be $1 233 3017 Mr Marshall announced The increase on personal property caused by the two cent increase, $700 024 00

It is the belief of the commission that personal property has been assessed at much low r valuation than real estate and when personal property has been brought up the same rule there will be no decrease but we think a surprising increase

It was the purpose of the farmers of the Nelson law to equalize both taxation between the personal and real estate property Under the old law real estate bore 62 15 percent and personal property 37 65 per cent All personal property equalized with the tax department shows that when the final equalization is completed under the Nelson act for 1924 the difference in the amount born by real estate and personal property will not be over 10 per cent

Under the distribution of revenues received as provided in the Nelson act, all sources will get a greater amount the sinking fund University of Kentucky, the Eastern and Western Normal Schools all receiving greater amounts than ever before

If the assessment on personal property is not increased over that made in 1923 the general expenditure fund will receive something like $700 000 less than it did in the last four years

British Royalty Criticised for Attending Races

By Associated Press

LONDON, July 23—The royal family has been criticized by a sect of their subjects because of the royal fondness for the racecourse While a part of the nation stands by to applaud the sporting instinct which brings their majesties to mingle with the thousands of Englishmen at the courses, the Primitive Methodist conference at Newcastle recently passed a resolution decrying the liason between Buckingham Palace and Newmarket

The resolution expressed the attitude of the conference as 'viewing with grave concern and pain the increasing close association of royalty with the turf

Members of the royal family were more personally referred to in the discussions which took place before the adoption of the resolution The Prince of Wales as the most adventuresome member of the royal family came in for most of the unfriendly criticism but even Queen Mary was criticized for lending her presence to the grand stand

Over 70,000 People Killed Yearly at Railway Crossings

There are 70 000 people killed and more than 2 000 000 injured in the United States each year as a result of accidents, 25 per cent of whom are children under 15 years of age

The casualty record for a six year period—1917 to 1922 inclusive shows a total of 10 911 deaths and 20 91 injuries as a result of grade crossings accidents, an average of 1 818 deaths and 3 818 injuries per year The American Railway Association through its safety section has estimated that based upon the increase in the number of automobiles and also upon the increases in casualties obtained in prior years the year 1924 will show a death toll of approximately 2 500 and 6 500 injuries resulting from crossing accidents We should not overlook the fact that there are a large number of accidents at crossings in which there are no casualties The Interstate Commerce Commission report for 1922 shows 68 collisions at railroad highway crossings resulting in casualties to railroad employes and passengers, and 27 of these resulted in derailments with a property loss to the railroads of 206,000 This only includes accidents where the property loss in each case was equal to or greater than 150, and does not take into consideration the thousands of minor accidents in solving the destruction of thousands of dollars worth of property, neither does it take into consideration the vast amount of wastage resulting from the destruction of automobile and and other vehicles which is a drain upon the resources of the country Not only did the cases collisions of which mention is made result in enormous property loss and the loss of many lives of those using the highway but also resulted in the death and injury of 148 railroad employes and 14 passenger on the trains as well

To be unconcerned with reference to this problem the immediate future presented is the elimination of all grade crossing It can be appreciated how impracticable such a suggestion is when we take into consideration that there are 260 82 crossings at grade and that the elimination of 706 crossings during 1922 cost the railroads $70 000 000 It is estimated that a total elimination would cost 20 billion dollars which is equal to the capitalization of all the railroads Further, approximately 1000 new crossings were added during the year in which 700 were eliminated

An analysis of these accidents show that about 70 per cent occur in daylight, 68 per cent at crossings where the view is entirely open and unobstructed and contrary to the general belief not only do the majority occur at points where the view is clear, but at crossings with which the driver is entirely familiar Further analysis shows that about 14 per cent of accidents of this kind are due to the driver colliding with the side of moving trains

Father of Young Victim Testifies In Case Today.

SLAYERS UNMOVED

Boys Described Crime as "Commercial Proposition" In Letter Read by the Prosecution.

By Associated Press

CHICAGO July 23—Calmly but with eyes moistened with tears, Jacob Franks father of the fourteen years old victim of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb recited on the witness stand today the story of the boy's disappearance

Franks was called to the stand after Robert Crow, state's attorney, in an opening statement demanded the death penalty for the two brilliant college youths The father in a firm voice identified small bits of clothing and other personal possessions found about the body

The testimony was unfinished when court recessed for lunch The defendants, sat unmoved throughout the hearing and left the room almost jauntily for luncheon and laughed audibly when they started back to their cells

'The kidnapping was strictly a commercial proposition' the abductors wrote in their first letter to the father of the victim read today by Crowe, who described the defendants as cold, calculating murderers" At this point the states attorney alluded to evidence he would ask to present to the court in private "The nature of the evidence is improper to reveal here, Crowe stated, but made no allusion to its subject matter

It is problematical whether the first days hearing will go beyond this state of the case Subsequently testimony will deal with Leopold's ownership of a portable typewriter, the purchase of a chisel and rope and a bottle of acid which the youth intended to use in the slaying

The state witnesses will also include Sven Englund chauffeur of the Leopold family and his wife, who will testify that the Leopold car in which the boys said they were riding on the day of the murder, was in the garage at Ida's

Persons who saw Loeb at the Harvard school in May 21 just before young Franks was kidnapped and Irving Hartman, a playmate, last to see the victim alive as he left the school yard where he had been umpiring a ball game are next in order, and then will come the detailed testimony by which the police traced the course of the murder car, checked up the confessions and under direction of Leopold and Loeb, recovered the chisel typewriter and bits of clothing scattered along the route taken by the criminals Police officials newspaper reporters handwriting experts and professional divers are in this list but their testimony probably will not be reached for several days

Whether the boys themselves will even take the stand is also unsettled By entering guilty pleas and holding a hearing to determine the degree of punishment the boys are subject to be called by the state, the defense or the court itself The names of the youths are not on the state's list of witnesses made public today, but it is possible that the state may place them on the stand later The defense has not indicated its intention, but the court may take a hand in the case and question the boys about any phase of the case he desires

Mrs Franks will be the next witness to take the stand, Attorney Crowe announced when the trial resumed after recess

Chicago Has Record of a Murder a Day

CHICAGO, July 23—A murder a day for June and 177 since the first of the year is Chicago's record, according to the report of the Chicago crime commission made public yesterday April, with thirty-three, had the largest number of homocides.

The trend in murder is upward," the report stated "No country, with the exception of Italy, comes near to the United States in the murderous tendency of its people This country has twice as many murders as Italy, and Chicago has nearly three times as many per capita"

PARK PROSPECTS AGAIN LOOMING

Middlesboro people should take a renewed interest in the proposition of the ultimate establishment of a national, or at least a state, park at Cumberland Gap. The National Park Committee of Washington will leave Friday for a tour of the South to investigate the fitness of each particular section for a national park. Historical and majestic Pinnacle Mountain is to be one of the sites examined.

The Middlesboro Kiwanis club evidently started the entire Applachain section in quest of national parks; at least, other places began laying claims for such an honor soon after Middlesboro had started the agitation. Whether or not anything can be done now except to assume a "watchful waiting" attitude and be ready with any geological, historical or other data that the committee might desire, is a matter of question. Certain it is Knoxville and other places in the South are doing their utmost to boost tracts for a national park which obviously have not the varied attractions of the Cumberland Gap site.

It is very probable that the committee will decide the matter on cold facts; Washington officials are not partial to any certain locality and our hope for the park which shall surely be established in the Applachain region may be founded mainly on this basis.

With the prospects of a visit by Dr. Hubert Work and his committee it behooves public-suirited citizens, particularly Kiwanians who first invited the interest of federal officials in the matter, to prepare a reception fitting the honor their presence will afford the town.

WHERE PANIC SHOWS

What right have the solid Muldoons in both the old parties to assume that all the virtues reside in them and all the sweetness and light? Where do they get a license to read an evil, selfish bent in all those, of either old political group, who is out of sympathy with the tickets, Coolidge-Dawes, Davis-Bryan?

Why has not a man a perfectly good right to declare that, as between conservative, he has no choice, and as between reactionaries, no place to go?

Wheeler wants the succession from La Follette, we are told, from La Follette who is aging and sick. Cast him out is the order. Denounce him for a masquerader. Tell him that what he does is a crime and what he meditates is treason. Tell him, in that one last and inclusive condemnation, that he won't do.

Now, in our experience, panic can be read from the wild and frenzied anger of those who pretend that they have nothing to fear. When it was as big and as popular a man as Roosevelt the regulars were unbounded in their indignation. There was no such thing, they held, as a right to appeal from the rulers of a party to the body of the voters. There is a gospel of Republicanism and the prophets are without law. That was a matter of twelve years since.

Now both parties find an all but parallel insurgency and both declare that the wisdom resides nowhere save in the national convention, whether at Cleveland or New York. As to that we would observe that the main trouble is among those who complain that Mike and Ike look so shockingly alike. And the truth is that, from a good many viewpoints, they do.

Wheeler says that he's still as much in the party as Davis ever dared to be, and La Follette says the same as Coolidge.' That's what hurts. Both insist upon preaching their tenets in the regular pulpits and insists they are as orthodox as anyone. Will many agree with them? If they should the panic, and even the hot language are justified.—Louisville Herald

Indians Persist In Pagan Cus- to the Disgust of Educators —No ban Has Been Issued.

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 19. The controversy arising out of the question of withdrawing two Indian children from school in the Taos Pueblo, New Mexico for the purpose of teaching them the pagan rites and traditional customs of the Pueblo ancients has been branded a tempest in a teapot,' by Commissioner Burke of the Indian Bureau.

Declaring the position of the Indian Bureau had been misrepresented, Commissioner Burke expressed a belief that the question would be amicably settled before the new fall school term at the Taos Pueblo begins.

According to new information, Mr. Burke has received, two Indian children between the ages of seven and ten are usually withdrawn for an 18 months period from modern educational instruction, to be taught the ancient rites an dtraditions o fthe tribe. As there is no written history of the Pueblo, the purpose is to develop the children to become priests and medicine men and enable them to pass on to succeeding generations by word of mouth the story of Pueblo life.

The instructions given the children, Mr. Burke said deal not only with religious matters but also with the history and materia medica of the Pueblos from the beginning of time, including the uses of herbs and their medicinal qualities. The boys are supposed to be consecrated, are not permitted to play with other children and sleep under guard of an elder Indian in the "estufa" or "kiva" a chamber built in or beneath the pueblo where secret religious ceremonies and tribal councils are held, and which is entered in a hole in the roof.

During their year and a half training, Mr. Burke continued, the boys are fed upon corn and corn products, squashes and other traditional vegetables. Meat from domestic animals is forbidden, such diet being confined to the flesh of wild animals, fish and wild birds.

Commissioner Burke denied that the Bureau of Indian Affairs has issued orders placing a ban on the holding by the Pueblos of their ancient religious ceremonies, and stated the government would not interfere in any way with them.

The Taos Pueblo is located 75 miles north of Santa Fe, on a small stream, and has a population of 618 Indians, the number increasing about 25 per cent in the last twenty years.

Bears Prey to Bows and Arrows in Hunt

CORDOVA, Alaska, July 19. Despite the fact that the majority of hunters in Alaska use rifles and shotguns for game, a hunting party composed of three men and two women returned here in June from the Yakatage district with seven brown bears killed by bow and arrow.

Married Under Guard

LONDON, July 23.—A cordon of police surrounded the registry office here recently to prevent John Harrison's prospective mother in law from stopping his wedding. The solemn quiet of the marriage ceremony was broken by the screaming and weeping of the angry woman in an outside corridor.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

(By Harry B. Hunt)

WASHINGTON, July 23. Oil is scheduled to keep things hot in government circles here in Washington this winter.

No, we're not hinting at another oil scandal. Although $125,000 is involved it will be dispensed on regulation government vouchers, not passed out in black suitcases.

And the heat that is to result is to be measured in thermal units not in angry words, charges and counter-charges and flaming passions.

For although the government hasn't yet obtained repossession of the oil reserves bartered away by the late Secretary Fall, and actual dollars and cents will have to be paid out to obtain the petroleum needed Uncle Sam has decided to install two great oil-burning heating plants to provide warmth in some 14 of the buildings his employes occupy here in the capital.

Incidentally, a new degree of co-operation between various branches of the government is being exhibited in the installation and plan of operation of these plants.

The Shipping Board whose offices will be among those it also has offered to provide a concrete tanker for storing a supply of fuel here in Washington. The Navy Department will chip in by towing this vessel from Pensacola, Fla., where she now lies.

Boilers for the larger heating unit will also be contributed to the Shipping Board from a surplus of maritime stock on hand. These were designed for fast wartime liners but will serve out their days anchored to coal-piles in a great dry land heating plant.

The War Department and Treasury Department have each helped the project along, the former donating pipe line salvaged from Camp Meade, the latter turning over equipment purchased for a plant to heat the income tax unit which it later decided to abandon.

The Roosevelt tradition is to be carried over into this year's presidential campaign via the personality of Hell and Maria Dawes.

Perhaps it's conflict here per se that way, but the vice presidential running mate of President Coolidge has indicated that he wishes for a more sober one than befitting the dignity of a possible vice president. Anyway, Dawes and his combustious personality are to be painted as of the same general character of those vigorous strenuous attributes which so endeared "T. R." to the American people.

The "politician with a punch" however, who is most under discussion in Washington these days, is none other than Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas.

Robinson jumped right into the center of the capital's tea table conversations the other day when in an altercation over golf etiquette, he swung with his fist instead of his mid iron and knocked Dr. James Mitchell for a dead one. No one claims it was a dub stroke, but Mitchell claims the senator scored on a foul and protested to the club management, exhibiting a black eye as Exhibit A.

The discussions that resulted haven't been equaled in the exclusive Chevy Chase Club circles since Taft tried golf as a weight reducer.

The Robinson fans said Joe should have used his driver instead of his fist, but the Mitchell adherents held that his fist proved a mashie which no gentleman would use on his first shot.

The upshot of all the talk was that Robinson was expelled from the club. Not because he hit Mitchell but because he got the club too much talked about.

MERIDITH TALKS ON ADVERTISING

Tells World Convention That Advertising Has Welded Market of the Country.

By Associated Press

LONDON, July —An address by E. T. Meredith, of Des Moines, Iowa, United States Market," was this afternoon read before the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of on "How Advertising has Welded the Mr. Meredith, in the beginning, reviewed the barriers that exist in America to uniform buying customs throughout the 48 states. He referred to the geographical barriers found in mountain chains; the different climatic conditions in winter, for instance, between Florida on the south and the Canadian border on the north; the great distances north, east, south and west; the distribution of population, 32,000,000 people on farms, 45,000,000 in cities and 29,000,000 in towns, and the question of sectional, industrial and agricultural production.

"Nevertheless," Mr. Meredith declared, "the use of locally manufactured products made from locally produced raw materials is nation-wide, and this has been accomplished by advertising. Nationally-known and nationally-used products have been advertised throughout the nation, and the heads of these concerns will tell you that universal sales would not have been possible without this publicity."

"I hope I have made clear to you that in the first place nearly all of the natural conditions in the United States work against national distribution of products and that the line of least resistance, the easy way out as it were, would have developed in the United States not a single buying unit as we find it today. We would have had a number of local or sectional communities to a large extent sufficient unto themselves each going its own way with its own customs, living conditions, and the use of commodities necessary for its well-being.

GAME COMMISSION STOCKING STREAMS

12,000 Miles of Streams Stocked Will Furnish Fishing to All In the State.

The Game and Fish Commission now is distributing fish to stock Kentucky waters. There is no enterprise more surely profitable than stocking water with fish, provided protective laws be obeyed generally. Fish distribution comes to nothing if the protective laws are disregarded.

Kentucky has about 12,000 miles of streams. Every Kentuckian is therefore entitled to good fishing. There is hardly a community which is without a stream large enough to supply good fishing for that community. But there are few communities in which fishing is worth while, because seining, dynamiting, "cooning" and other destructive methods of taking fish have been employed. The individualist who believes he has a right to take fish in any way he may wish to try does not pause to reflect that others have a right to the good fishing which the water would provide if the law were obeyed, and when fish are protected it is soon easy to catch fish without employing illegal and destructive methods.

The right to good fishing should be upheld. Militant advocacy of the right to good fishing soon would put down the lawbreaker who believes he has a right to go fishing with a stick of dynamite or to help pull a seine.

A GOOD LAXATIVE

Black-Draught Recommended by an Illinois Lady, Who Says It Helps Her.—"Fine for the Liver."

St. Elmo, Ill.—"I have used Black-Draught for three years," says Mrs. J. W. Boyd, a well-known member of this community. "I was visiting a friend who had used it for some time. I was in need of a laxative and I had a burning in my stomach. I was constipated. She gave me a dose of Black-Draught and it helped me, so I used it from then on. It certainly benefited me. I think it is fine for the liver, too. I am glad to recommend it.

"One day our pastor was visiting us, and he said his system seemed clogged and asked me to give him something to take. I gave him Black-Draught. He was much pleased with the results and bought a package, himself."

Constipation forces the system to absorb poisons that should be thrown out, causing pain, discomfort and tending to undermine your health. Black-Draught helps to relieve this condition by acting on the bowels, and by regulating the liver when it is torpid, thus helping to drive out many poisons in an easy, natural way.

Your local druggist, or dealer, sells Black-Draught. NC-153

Middlesboro Folks Should Find the Cause and Correct It.

Are you all worn out? Feel tired, nervous, half-sick? Do you have a constant backache; sharp twinges of pain, too, with dizzy spells and annoying urinary disorders? Then there's cause for worry and more cause to give your weakened kidneys prompt help. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneysday.

Middlesboro folks recommend Doan's for just such troubles

Mrs. J. H. Purnell, 410 Doncaster Ave., Middlesboro, says. "My kidneys were active, and bearing-down pains in small of my back took my strength. The pain across my kidneys was so steady, I felt miserable in every respect. Dizziness was most annoying, too. My nerves were bad. Doan's Pills, from Lee & Co.'s Drug Store, however, drove away the kidney complaint."

FARMERS' LIBRARY NOW AVAILABLE

Part of Traveling Library System Recently Inaugurated by Librarian.

FRANKFORT, July 23.—Farmers' libraries, consisting of from 15 to 50 books on agricultural subjects, are offered by the Kentucky Library Commission as a part of its traveling library, Miss Fannie C. Rawson, secretary, said today.

Upon request, a farmer's library of fifteen books may be substituted for that number on general reading in a regular library, she said.

Small groups of books on special subjects for the use of study clubs, debating societies and individual students will be sent entirely free except for the cost of transportation and loaned for 30 days with the privilege of an extension of time, she said.

The traveling libraries are intended for rural communities without library privileges, for study clubs and individual students, and to supplement the collection of books in small libraries, institutions, and schools, she said.

FARM FESTIVAL SEASON AT HAND

Farm Bureaus Announce Many Activities for Agronomists at This Time.

Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 23.—The season for farm bureau picnics is at hand. Reports of picnics and a number being planned are being received here. Some tell of horse shoe pitching contests, some tug-of-war, and others tell of athletic contests for boys and girls, men and women.

The coveted blue-ribbons are beginning to flutter in the breeze.

Now is the time to begin selecting and fitting the animals and giving special attention to the best fruit, forage and grain crops as they are harvested, bureau officials over the state say, and reports come of boys and girls, members of the Junior Agricultural clubs, arranging for exhibits.

Poultry culling demonstrations are planned.

"The culling season is on and many persons will be selling the non-laying hens, "a statement of J. Lewis Letterle the president of the Jefferson County Farm Bureau, received here today, declared. "Most of these can be improved by a short fattening period before they are sent to market. Though the gains to be made are considerable less than is possible with broilers, the improvement is still sufficient to more than pay for its cost. A simple mixture that will give good results consists of two-thirds cornmeal and one-third wheat middlings mixed with enough skim milk or buttermilk to form a thick batter."

AUGMENT STRENGTH OF SOIL NUTRIENT

Germans Claim Invention Which Increases Strength of Manure.

Associated Press.

MEMMINGEN, July 1—Captain Krantz, a retired German cavalry officer, claims to have invented a process for treating manure by which its effectiveness as a fertilizer is doubled. He has demonstrated scientifically that the nitrogen contained in making is used only up to 25 per cent of its entire contents, while 75 per cent is lost. His process at its present stage of development makes possible the utilization of 50 per cent.

It is estimated that the amount of manure produced annually in Germany aggregates 150,000,000 tons, and that this manure contains 600,000 to 700,000 tons of nitrogen, only 25 per cent of which becomes available under existing treatment. German farmers are much interested in the Krantz process, because they see in it a possibility of making Germany more independent of foreign artificial fertilizers.

Krantz' method is a combination of first loosening up the manure and afterward compressing it, bers, Samuel H. Reid and James Harmon of the Safety Department Louisville, Ky.

Messrs Reid and Harmon arrived in Middlesboro this morning from Norton where they held meetings with the employees of the Old Dominion Power Company recently acquired by the Kentucky Utilities Company, and organized the Safety work.

Mr. Reid spoke to employees here this morning of the growth of the company which now operates in fifteen states and employes 8000 people. He told of the work of the Bureau of Safety of the company and urged all present to use every effort to prevent accidents. Mr. Harmon who is in charge of the Safety Department of the Kentucky Utilities Company, spoke of the accidents reported this year and stated that no fatal accident had happened in the Kentucky properties so far.

He complimented the Middlesboro organization for their efforts in preventing accidents and for the spirit of good fellowship in evidence among the Middlesboro employees.

STUDENT EXODUS CLOSES SCHOOLS

German Musical Schools are Being Deserted—Causes Alarming Condition.

Associated Press.

LEIPSIC, Germany, July 19.—Conservatories of music are declinging alarmingly in Germany. Recently an institution with a normal enrollment of 300 pupils went bankrupt, and a great many smaller undertaking have been forced to liquidate.

During the inflation period these institutions were kept above water only by the fact that the foreign music students paid five times the tuition of the natives. Since stabilization has taken place, however, thousands of foreigners have left Germany, finding it too expensive and the music lovers who remain behind can for the most part afford to pay only about one-half the prewar tuition fee.

How desperate the situation is may be judged from the fact that the conservatory students are permitted to play in movie houses and in cafes, a thing that was anathema before the war. There is also no objection to their earning money on the side by playing at dances.

The chief reason for the plight in which the musical art finds itself is the fact that the inflation period and the war have wiped out the middle class, which before the war was the principal supporter of the finer arts.

Lowly Caterpillar Nearly Causes Wreck

Associated Press.

EDMONTON, Alta. July 19.—Two steam pipes have been attached to every locomotive on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway to clear the tracks of caterpillars, which had become so thick that the rails were made slippery and trains often could make no headway. The steam pipes, carried down to the front of the wheels, exert a pressure that blows the insects from the rails. At certain places incessant swarms of caterpillars continue to cross the tracks.

Museum of Wine Culture.

FREIBURG, Germany, July 23.—A museum of wine culture has been established in this city. The city furnished the building, the historic old Peterhof, and the state of Baden has assumed the burden of upkeep of the undertaking. The museum will furnish an historical perspective of the development of wine growing and wine making in Germany.

August is the Vacation Month
This is the Road to Vacation Land!

A SUCCESSFUL vacation is not simply a week or two's rest. A change of scene, of climate and environment, a getting far away from the things you're used to—a dip in the ocean—a camp in the deep woods—a wonderful period of fishing in Northern lakes or some secluded little inland stream—horse back riding over the mountains—something different from the things you do during the other fifty weeks of the year. That's the real vacation.

If you're undecided as to where to go, let an L. & N. Passenger Agent help you with information as to accommodations, costs, etc. Mountains, lakes, sea shores, inland watering places—are all reached by the superior train service of "The Old Reliable"—and remember that one of the many points of the superiority of this great railroad system is its excellent dining-car service.

AT DAWN

Written for The Christian Science Monitor

The dogs that down the road barked half the night
And still were noisy as I fell asleep,
Are silent now. The east is growing light;
The little birds begin to wake and peep.
Disturbing thoughts that for awhile I had,
Disquieting to peace before I slept,
Have all been metamorphosed into glad,
Since they have lain where lavender was kept.

The cocks begin the same sun-calling note
Beneath their raucous music, as the bird;
Stir of insistent or of lyric throat;
And, indoors, children wakening are heard.
Red is the east now. Through a golden hush
Of ease at heart, there sounds at last the thrush.

WOMEN VOTERS TAKING ACTIVE PART IN RACE

Kentucky Women Honored With Responsible Positions.

BIG VOTE FORECAST

Recent Events Show Women Forging to Front In Important Places In the State.

FRANKFORT, July 23.—With a political year now in operation Kentucky apparently is not only going to witness a great women's vote in the state primary, Saturday, August 2, and in the general election in November, but the state will see women as politicians and campaigners, indications pointed today. Recent events were the basis for the prediction by state officials.

Mrs. J. Campbell Cantrill, state librarian, is a member of the democratic national executive committee, and took a prominent part in the New York "keeps an ear to the ground" as to the general political situation. She is on the committee appointed to notify John W. Davis of his nomination.

Mrs. A. T. Hert, Louisville, whose husband prior to his death a few years ago was republican national committeeman from Kentucky, was a delegate at large from the state to the Cleveland convention.

Mrs. Cantrill's husband was prominent in state politics and had received the democratic nomination for governor before his untimely death.

That women will take the platform for both parties when the presidential campaign gets well under way seems assured. Miss Laura Clay, of Lexington; Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, Morehead, now in Washington, but expected back shortly, according to Miss Lela Mae Stiles, her secretary; Mrs. Cantrill; Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell, Frankfort, secretary of state; Mrs. John Fulton, Bardstown, and Mrs. Mary Elliott Flannery, Catlettsburg, are among those expected to become actively engaged in carrying the message of democracy to Kentucky voters.

Republican leaders in the state count upon the services of Mrs. Christine Bradley South, Frankfort, former member of the Republican National Committee; Mrs. Hert, Mrs. Lillian G. Davis, Louisville; Mrs. Samuel J. Roberts, Lexington; Mrs. Mrs. W. L. Prince, Benton; Miss Grace Huntsman, Scottsville; Mrs. Nannie J. Watkins, Irvington; Mrs. W. L. Bryson, Fort Thomas; Mrs. Jonas Rucker, Richmond, and Mrs. Stella Starky, Pikeville.

In the republican county conventions women were given places on the county delegations to the state convention and in each district convention they were named among delegates to the national convention.

The democratic state convention heard women of prominence on the platform, admitted women to responsibility on the state central and executive committees, and elected women delegates together with men to the New York convention.

Baby Actress Stars In Big Movie Drama

One of the most pleasing features of the Universal production, "The Darling of New York," starring Baby Peggy, which is scheduled for tomorrow at the Manring Theater, is that it is dramatically interesting without making any obvious attempt to be dramatic.

It would be less dramatic, perhaps, if it were not for the fact that the incidents around which the theme of the story is woven, concern the experience of a four year old girl, a poor little waif who was unfortunately cast in with a bunch of crooks.

This little, big-eyed child first attracted public favor doing bits in feature plays and during the last year she has been featured in comedies. It is now understood that Universal will continue to star the youngster in big features. Such a policy should prove satisfactory to both the film company and the motion picture public, for she is well worth it.

The story was evidently written especially for the tiny star and the picture has been handled in such a way that there is hardly a scene in which attention is not riveted on her, or the raggedy-doll that she carries. In the doll are hidden the jewels that the crooks smuggled from Italy to America.

Baby Peggy is supported by a strong cast, which is made up almost of "character" actors. Most prominent in the suporting cast are Sheldon Lewis, Gladys Brockwell, Pat Hartigan and Carl Stockdale.

King Baggot directed the filming of the play.

Wheat is harvested in Australia, New Zealand, Chile, East India and Upper Egypt in January, February and March.

"DIRT FARMERETTE" IN CONGESS RACE

Mrs. Ogden, Bracken County, Is Only Kentucky Woman Making Race for Congress.

Associated Press.

MILFORD, Ky., July 23.—Mrs. Huldah F. Ogden, a "dirt" farmer of Milford, Bracken county, is the only woman candidate for congress in Kentucky.

Mrs. Ogden is offering in the republican primary election on Saturday, August 2, in the Ninth Congressional district. Two men, George Osborne, Russell and Trumbo Snedeger, Owingsville, also are seeking the nomination.

She is seeking the seat in the house now held by Fred M. Vinson, democrat, Louisa, who is seeking re-nomination in the democratic primary the same day. Ryland C. Music, Jackson, also is a candidate in the democratic primary.

The woman candidate has been interested in politics for some time, having served as clerk of the election board several times besides serving in other capacities.

Mrs. Ogden is the widow of William R. Ogden, former Cincinnati newspaper man. She formerly operated a store, but now devotes herself entirely to farming and sheep-raising, driving her own tractor when necessary.

Mrs. Ogden was the daughter of Bela Ogden, prominent business man in Eastern Kentucky for many years. Her husband was a distant relative. She has two children, a son and a daughter, both of them married. Mrs. Ogden attended Hamilton College, Lexington, Wesleyan College, Cincinnati, and the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

The Ninth Congressional district is composed of nineteen counties: Bath, Boyd, Bracken, Breathitt, Carter, Elliott, Fleming, Greenup, Harrison, Lewis, Lawrence, Mason, Menefee, Montgomery, Morgan, Nicholas, Robertson, Rowan, and Wolfe.

It is Gov. Fields' district and has received outstanding attention in political developments of the last twelve months.

"I believe a woman dirt farmer has a place in Washington," Mrs. Ogden said today. "The time is here for women to do their part in the responsible management of government. Particularly do we need practical, plain women at Washington, and I feel I can be of no small service in congress if elected."

Mining Brisk in Alaska

By Associated Press.

SEWARD, Alaska, July 23.—A revival of mining, principally for gold, has been reported this summer on the Kenai Peninsula, across whose neck the government's Alaska railroad runs north from this city. Many prospectors have been attracted to the Nuka Bay section, 50 miles south of Seward, where a discovery was said to have been made at the close of last season. Several quartz properties on the peninsula have been sold.
